2019 – 2020 Scholarship Programme

Boehringer Ingelheim is delighted to announce its 2019 – 2020 Veterinary Student Scholarship Programme. Programme grants a total BVDzero scholarship of €10,000 EUR to top 10 applicants (€1,000 for each student) from respective countries. Each scholarship winner will also receive an entry ticket (registration) to and accommodation at the upcoming World Buiatrics Congress in 2020. This programme reflects Boehringer Ingelheim's long-term commitment to promoting health and well-being of farm animals. Through the BVDzero Scholarship Programme, Boehringer Ingelheim aims to create awareness of BVD in veterinary students. The company believes that such events will help increase BVD awareness and, as a result, help reduce its prevalence.
